Karan Bilimoria (Lord Bilimoria of Chelsea) is the founder of Cobra Beer.

Having qualified as a Chartered Accountant, Karan Bilimoria developed a less gassy, premium lager brewed to perfectly appeal to both ale drinkers and lager drinkers alike and to complement food.

Little more than fifteen years later, Cobra Beer is one of the fastest growing beer brands in the UK and one of the most innovative young companies in the country. The brand has a current retail value turnover of £178 million, is sold in nearly 6,000 Indian restaurants, and is available to 6,000 bars, pubs and clubs and in over 12,000 branches of leading multiples, supermarkets and off-licenses throughout the UK. Cobra Beer was awarded a total of 85 Gold Medals between 2003-2011 at the Monde Selection, Brussels, World Selection of Quality Awards – more than any other beer in the world.

Karan Bilimoria started Cobra in 1990 when he was £20,000 in debt and up against all odds. Since that time, Cobra has grown into an operation with offices on four continents and exports to over 45 countries, with brewing operations in five countries. In 2009, Cobra Beer entered into a Joint Venture with Molson Coors, the largest family owned brewer in the world.

Karan is widely respected for his entrepreneurial spirit. He is one of the first two Visiting Entrepreneurs ever appointed at Cambridge University and serves as National Champion of the National Council for Graduate Entrepreneurship.

He was a member of the Government's National Employment Panel (NEP), and from 2001 to 2005 was Chairman of the NEP's SME Board. He was the founding Chairman of the UK-India Business Council (UKIBC) of which he is now President. He lectures extensively in the UK and abroad on entrepreneurship, business, education, and the Indo-British relationship.
