

BORIS BECKER

TENNIS LEGEND, COMMENTATOR, ENTREPRENEUR & BUSINESSMAN

In 1985, at the age of 17, Boris Becker became, and remains, the youngest ever winner of The Championships, Wimbledon. Over the course of his career, he won a total of 49 titles, and his success helped to make tennis a national sport in Germany.

Since his retirement from professional tennis, he is a tennis commentator for Sky and the BBC, and writes a sports column for The Times. He is also the founder of Boris Becker GmbH and provides testimonials for selected brands, including Mercedes-Benz, IWC, Rodenstock and Pokerstars. As well as this, he is Vice Chairman and an academy member of the Laureus Sports for Good Foundation, is an ambassador for the German AIDs Foundation and a Member of the Board of the Elton John AIDs Foundation.

His illustrious career spanned two decades, and he continues to entertain and inspire audiences with details of his experiences as a top international tennis player, and the lessons he learned when dealing with the insatiable media. An engaging, gregarious personality, he can present in German or English, and is always inspirational.

More recently, Boris became Novak Djokovic's head coach in an attempt to further advance the Serbian Star's tennis career.

“ A highly entertaining Awards Host, full of wit and charm. His reputation as a tennis star is preceded only by his ability to draw in an audience...”

Procurement Leaders

POPULAR TOPICS

ENTREPRENEURIALISM

TEAMWORK

ANECDOTES OF HIS LIFE

AVAILABLE FOR

PUBLIC SPEAKING - AWARDS HOSTING - PUBLIC

APPEARANCES - ENDORSEMENTS - PUBLISHING -

MASTER CLASSES & DEMOS - TV & FILM -

COACHING & MENTORING