“I hope to inspire and motivate others to BELIEVE that anything is truly possible.”

Born without legs, one would think Jen Bricker would be destined for a life of hardship. However, the hand of destiny brought her an amazing adoptive family, who gave her one simple rule, “Never say can’t” and helped her forge a life of triumph, not tragedy. As a child, Jen was obsessed with gymnastics, and her idol was Olympic gold-medalist Dominique Moceanu. Seemingly against all odds, Jen went on to compete against able-bodied athletes, and became a State Champion in power tumbling—only later to discover Moceanu was actually her biological sister.

Small portions of Jen’s incredible story have been featured on numerous news shows, including HBO Real Sports, ABC 20/20, and Good Morning America and in over 100 countries worldwide. She travelled internationally with Britney Spears’ World Tour, and appeared as the headliner at the prestigious Palazzo hotel in Las Vegas, New York’s Lincoln Center, and the Shangri La Hotel in Dubai.

Bricker is not just a role-model for anybody facing challenges but for anyone seeking inspiration, illumination, and an uplifting life. “I hope to inspire & motivate others to BELIEVE that anything is truly possible.”

Jennifer has been travelling the globe as a keynote speaker with a twist, adding a stunning performance to the mix. The high school tumbling state champion and competitor in the Amateur Athletic Union can perform a high-flying solo on trampoline after her keynote speech, followed by an aerial-silk routine, allowing audience to understand the true meaning of “Never say can’t”.
